- Participants develop strong political interest and enjoy discussing with invited politicians

CHALLENGES
- Some concepts needed multiple revisions to work out, as they did not receive enough attention in the planning process

Focus on having young voices, observers and the international community to exchange perspectives.</td>
<td>Effective in introducing the youth from different backgrounds to each other, opening their eyes to understand the views of others. Participants were willing to work on concrete solutions to the pressing issues.</td>
<td>Having the dialogues in English limited the participation to the well-educated class which led to similar perspectives. Now, there are plans to hold sessions in the under-privileged neighbourhoods with the youth there, to include their perspectives.</td>
