New forms of governance: The Case of Boston

WHERE IS THIS ALL GOING?

To showcase and encourage involvement in contemporary art and culture	Promote behavioral change through positive peer pressure that benefits the environment	To make mental health a bigger part of everyday life	To embolden youth to take control of their economic future

To create an educational system that is responsive to the demands of students	To establish a new culture of community where all identities are respected	To make resources more accessible for all citizens	To create an all encompassing communication protocol that mobilizes new communities
